Sekhukhune in seventh heaven

» Unbeaten in their first seven PSL matches of the season, Eric Tinkler's team aim to keep up their dream start to the season against Chippa United tomorrow and many TAB soccer pool players will fancy them as a banker bet as this match features in a number of pools, most notably the TAB Soccer 10 which closes at 19:00 tomorrow night.

By Mark Gleeson

Sekhukhune United have shown their ability to be competitive in the top flight in recent seasons with two successive fourth-place finishes, but few would have foreseen them as early title contenders in the current Premier Soccer League campaign. With accomplished coach Eric Tinkler now at the helm, it has been a dream start to the new season for the club, who are based in Johannesburg but play their home games in Polokwane, necessitating much more travel than most. They have won six of their seven league outings, drawing the other, and have a one-point lead over champions Mamelodi Sundowns, who have played one more match. Both are in action tomorrow with Sundowns away at Lamont-ville Golden Arrows in an afternoon match, with the home club hoping to bring in a holiday crowd in Durban, while Sekhukhune will be fancied to keep up their run when they host Chippa United later on in Polokwane. Sekhukhune have scored a healthy 12 goals in their seven games to date and conceded only two. No team has conceded fewer goals, and their +10 goal difference is the same as Sundowns (from eight matches). The two goals they conceded were against AmaZulu and Kaizer Chiefs, but they have otherwise kept five clean sheets. This is classic Tinkler, not to give much away, but he is also bolstered by the addition of the 37-year-old Bradley Grobler, who arrived for free at the start of the season. He scored a late winner against Lamontville Golden Arrows on Saturday for his fifth league goal of the campaign and keeps proving he is still one of the best finishers in the league. Whether he can stay fit for 30 matches is the big question, as he managed just 10 league starts for SuperSport United in the previous campaign. His five goals have come from five starts this term, and in total, he has seven goals in eight starts in all competitions. Kaizer Chiefs are also in action tomorrow, freshly back from defeat in Luanda over the weekend in continental club competition. They suffered their first defeat of the season last Wednesday to Sekhukhune and now host Marumo Gallants, who are a tricky customer. The departure of Nasreddine Nabi is going to lift some of the in-house tension at the club, but if Chiefs are to return to winning ways, they need to hire a coach of consequence after several dud appointments in recent years. Chiefs then on Saturday host Kabuscorp of Angola in the second leg of their African Confederation Cup tie, needing to claw back from a 0-1 deficit. Stellenbosch, who were third last season, are surprisingly struggling and lost their previous four matches. It might not get any better tomorrow night at home to Durban City. Tomorrow also sees the opening night of group matches in the Europa League, with Nottingham Forest away at Real Betis of Spain in a match where new coach Ange Postecoglou is looking for his first win since arriving and taking over from Nuno Espirito Santo.
